DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:
  - I. Claims 1–6 and 8, drawn to a method of identifying block/zone misalignments in microarray data, and a computer-readable medium containing instructions for performing the method, classified in class 702, subclass 19.
  - II. Claim 7, drawn to a method of transmitting microarray data, classified in class 702, subclass 19.
  - III. Claim 9–13, drawn to a microarray data processing system, classified in class 702, subclass 19.
  - IV. Claims 14–17 and 19, drawn to a method of correcting block/zone misalignments in microarray data, and a computer-readable medium containing instructions for performing the method, classified in class 702, subclass 19.
  - V. Claim 18, drawn to a method of transmitting microarray data, classified in class 702, subclass 19.
  - VI. Claim 20, drawn to a microarray data processing system, classified in class 702, subclass 19.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

2. Inventions I–III and IV–VI are directed to related processes, and apparatuses which implement these processes. The related inventions are distinct if: (1) the inventions as claimed are either not capable of use together or can have a materially different design, mode of operation, function, or effect; (2) the inventions do not overlap in scope, i.e., are mutually exclusive; and (3) the inventions as claimed are not obvious variants. See MPEP § 806.05(j). In the instant case, inventions I and IV have different functions. Invention I (and related inventions II and III) identify block/zone misalignments in microarray data, whereas invention IV (and related inventions V and VI) correct microarray data for block/zone misalignments.

Furthermore, the inventions as claimed do not encompass overlapping subject matter and there is nothing of record to show them to be obvious variants.

3. Inventions I and II are directed to related processes which have different functions.

Invention I is a method of identifying a block/zone misalignment, and invention II is a method of using an identified block/zone misalignment. Inventions IV and V are distinct for analogous reasons.

4. Inventions I and III are related as process and apparatus for its practice. The inventions are distinct if it can be shown that either: (1) the process as claimed can be practiced by another and materially different apparatus or by hand, or (2) the apparatus as claimed can be used to practice another and materially different process. (MPEP § 806.05(e)). In this case invention I can be practiced by hand. Inventions IV and VI are distinct for analogous reasons.

5. Restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper because all these inventions listed in this action are independent or distinct for the reasons given above and there would be a serious search and examination burden if restriction were not required because one or more of the following reasons apply:

- (a) the inventions have acquired a separate status in the art in view of their different classification;
- (b) the inventions have acquired a separate status in the art due to their recognized divergent subject matter;
- (c) the inventions require a different field of search (for example, searching different classes/subclasses or electronic resources, or employing different search queries);
- (d) the prior art applicable to one invention would not likely be applicable to another invention;
- (e) the inventions are likely to raise different non-prior art issues under 35 U.S.C. 101 and/or 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a invention to be examined even though the requirement may be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention may be made with or without traverse. To reserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse. Traversal must be presented at the time of election in order to be considered timely. Failure to timely traverse the requirement will result in the loss of right to petition under 37 CFR 1.144. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which of these claims are readable on the elected invention.

If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which of these claims are readable upon the elected invention.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the inventions are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the inventions to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other invention.

Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
